

The Earth recycles water over and over again and has done for millions of years. It does this through a process known as the hydrological or water cycle.

Think about what these terms mean:

Precipitation.....

Evaporation.....

Condensation.....

Transpiration.....

Infiltration.....

Sun.....

Run-off.....

Now use the terms to label the various aspects of the water cycle.

